

Who are Jack and Kathleen Randall?

Kathleen & Jack Randall challenge people and organizations to fully discover, understand, and actively pursue their unique calling and individual roles as leaders. Do you understand your unique calling? And do you understand the unique calling you have within your marriage and with your spouse?

Kathleen and Jack have trained thousand of people across the United States and abroad. Kathleen's education in Organizational Communication and Conflict Management, and Jack's business experience in Vision and Strategic Planning, allow them to bring a unique perspective— both at work and at home! Together, Jack and Kathleen challenge and assist people and organizations to become the leaders they're meant to be.

Kathleen and Jack's interactive styles present practical skills and techniques to address communication differences, perceptions, and expectations. Join them for an informational (and at times, humorous) session you are sure to remember!
